ABOUT SAVANNAH

Savannah Burrows is a natural born storyteller. With roots in Southern California, her original music pulls from California Country-Pop to combine with a Southern-Country soul since relocating to Nashville to pursue her passions. Her taste has evolved with her ever-growing experience in the industry, as she's had the opportunity to grace the stage and open for such idols as Carly Pearce, Devin Dawson, Sara Evans, Hunter Hayes, Chris Lane, and more. Savannah's music can be described as a fusion of country and pop music, as her songs evoke a fun-loving freedom in each of her narratives. The Nashville music scene has truly embraced Savannah by continuing to invite her back to legendary venues such as The Listening Room Cafe, Whiskey Jam, The Basement, Live Oak, and The Local, to name a few. She also won the Whiskey Jam 2022 Video competition judged by Sam Hunt and Ward Guenther, and her music video for "Rum and Done" will be premiering on CMT June 16th, 2023! As a newly claimed Song Suffragette, Savannah is excited for what's to come in creating and sustaining the music community in which she thrives, all while continuing to create a space for her listeners to feel seen and heard each time they listen to her music.
